

Real-World Assets (RWAs) Tokenization Report - October 2023 Recap

YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR DETERMINING WHETHER ANYTHING CONTAINED HEREIN IS SUITABLE FOR YOUR PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES, AND FOR SEEKING PROFESSIONAL TAX, LEGAL, AND/OR INVESTMENT ADVICE AS APPROPRIATE. PLEASE SEE THE OTHER DISCLAIMERS AT THE END OF THIS REPORT.

This report highlights developments related to the tokenization and on-chain adoption of Real-World Assets (RWAs).

Our report includes details on centralized industry players and asset class coverage, as well as coverage of select decentralized finance protocols working to integrate RWAs on-chain.

Information is compiled from Digital Asset Research's (DAR's) data sources, public sources, media reports, and press releases, and, while wide-ranging, this report covers only representative initiatives related to the development and tokenization of RWAs in the digital asset space.

Introduction

While many cryptocurrencies offer solutions to the challenges encountered by Web3 users, only a few digital assets possess characteristics that connect them to real-world economic activities. Skeptics contend that cryptocurrency use cases are confined to the digital realm, and therefore the value of crypto assets is not sustainable, given that much of daily life revolves around the physical world.

Real-world asset tokenization bridges this gap between the physical and digital worlds. Real-World Assets (RWAs) are assets that exist tangibly offline, such as real estate or equities. Tokenization refers to the process of generating a digital certificate that is impervious to alteration or replication to represent an RWA on a blockchain. These digital certificates are backed by real-world assets as collateral.

Through tokenization, investors can gain access to conventional investment opportunities in a more trustless and efficient manner via blockchain technology. Settlement can be conducted in real time and investors are always able to see where their assets are stored on chain. The spectrum of assets that could be tokenized includes but is not confined to, real estate, private credit, securities, commodities, and fiat currencies. A significant proportion of the world's financial value is ascribed to RWAs, thereby presenting the potential for RWA tokens to access a total addressable market equivalent to the largest financial markets.

In this report, entities working on RWA initiatives are classified into two groups:

- Centralized organizations that offer tokenization services are detailed in the CeFi RWA sections.
- Decentralized Finance (DeFi) protocols that integrate RWAs with on-chain market participants are detailed in the DeFi RWA sections.

Significant RWA Tokenization News

Key Takeaways

- 37 of the listed organizations are registered in the United States, followed by Singapore with 6 protocols, while Switzerland and the United Kingdom have 4 protocols each.
- Eight new projects were added to this month's report:
  - Blocksquare is a Slovenia-based real estate tokenization protocol.
  - Brale is a multi-chain protocol that focuses on RWA-backed stablecoins.
  - DigiFT is a Singapore-based RWA tokenization originator and marketplace.
  - Estate Protocol specializes in the tokenization of real estate located in Dubai, UAE.
  - FortunaFi provides lending solutions, as well as private and public debt fund tokenization.
  - Helix is a Singapore-based tokenization platform focusing on crypto lenders.
  - Petale is a France-based RWA tokenization platform for real estate, luxury goods, and equities.
  - Yieldteq's first product is a tokenized iShares $ Treasury Bond 0-1yr UCITS ETF by BlackRock.
- Only 13 organizations utilize an in-house blockchain network.
- 51 of the organizations have their own tokenized asset marketplace.
- 52 of the organizations support the fractionalization of real-world assets.

Data as of 31 October 2023

Key Takeaways

- As of the end of October 2023, the most common tokenized asset types are real estate (32) and equities (28).
- Tokenization of fixed income and private credit are almost as popular, with 26 and 24 platforms, respectively, providing these services.
- Tokenization of foreign exchange and commodities-based assets remains the least popular among CeFi RWA providers.

DeFi RWA Industry Players

The following table provides details on a selection of 42 on-chain tokenization providers. Unlike their CeFi counterparts, DeFi RWA providers are generally more permissionless, with a majority of operations conducted on the blockchain.

Key Takeaways

- Three new protocols were added to our list of decentralized providers:
  - Atlendis is a credit protocol that has its core team based in France.
  - Matrixdock is Matrixport's RWA tokenization branch and currently provides tokenization of fixed income.
  - Solv Finance is a DeFi platform that has recently included the tokenization of treasuries into their yield strategies.
- As of the end of October 2023, Credit & Loans is the most common sector for DeFi tokenization products, with a total of 24 providers supporting real-world loans.
- Ethereum is the most common blockchain among RWA DeFi applications, with 27 out of 42 providers being run on the blockchain.
- A smaller portion of the RWA DeFi applications run on the Polygon, Solana, Avalanche, Celo, BNB Smart Chain, and Gnosis Chain blockchains.

DeFi RWA Protocols

The following table provides details on DeFi protocols that integrate real-world assets. These range from on-chain emerging markets lenders to protocols providing on-chain market participants with access to US Treasury Bills.

*Maple Finance on Solana was removed from this month's report due to a lack of reliable data sources.

Key Takeaways

- Active loan amounts increased over the past month across most protocols. Credix, which decreased in the past month, and TrueFi, which was stagnant, were exceptions to this trend.
- Changes in the market capitalization of RWA lending tokens varied across protocols in the month of October, with Centifuge's CFG and Maple's MPL both seeing a significant increase while other tokens saw lesser increases or declined overall.
